A candle-free greenery centerpiece for a small table

Plan a low arrangement that leaves space for plates, serving dishes and sightlines.

What you need

Your table and place settings, a measuring tape, paper and pen, a protective base, and one to three small stable decorative plants you already have or choose separately.

1. Reserve serving space

Measure the table and mark seats, plates and serving dishes on the map. Leave a small center zone with clear reach and sightlines.

2. Place the decor

Try one to three small faux potted plants on a protective base. Follow the actual care directions and keep decorations away from food contact, spills and heat.

3. Check from each seat

Sit down and check sightlines and reach. Remove any piece that crowds the meal. Keep small pieces away from children and pets.

Small-table arrangement map

Sketch your real table, seats, dishes and a low center zone. Adjust to your own measurements.

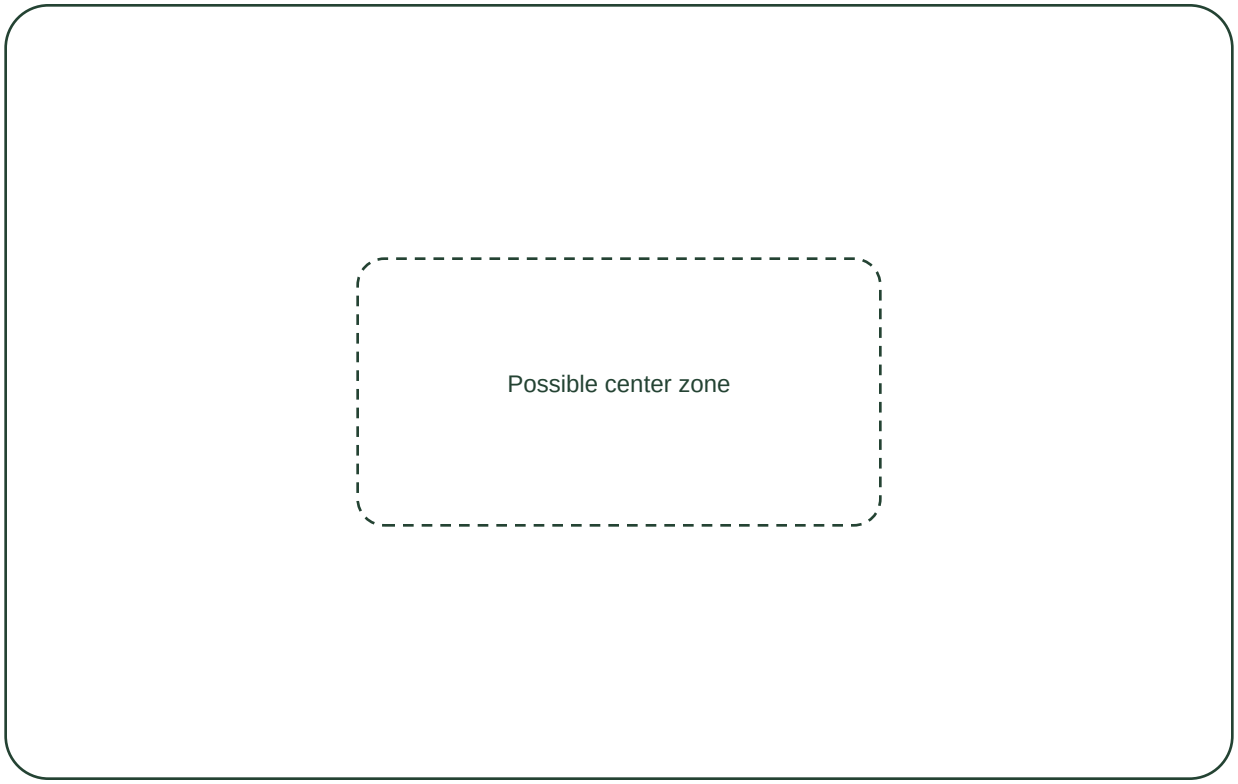

Table edge (not to scale)

Table width / length

Center zone available

Sightline and serving reach

Protective base and care notes

Keep decorations away from food contact and heat. Follow the actual materials’ care directions.