A small clay ring dish for a handmade gift

Use this circular shape guide with the steps below.

1. Form the dish

Use the round outline as a starting shape, not a mold-size guarantee. Roll suitable air-dry clay, cut a circle and gently lift its rim on a protected form that the clay can release from.

2. Dry without forcing

Follow the clay label for drying and handling. Avoid very thin edges and remove the dish from the form only when safe to do so; this is a decorative ring rest, not a food bowl.

3. Finish and test

Smooth and finish only with compatible products after complete drying. Test with one ring on a stable dry surface and keep the dish away from water unless the actual material and finish permit it.

Follow material and tool instructions. Decorative clay, paper and wire are not food-safe or flame-safe by default; supervise tools and keep small parts away from children and pets.

Circles are shape references. Dashed inner circle suggests a rim, not a fold.
