Closed-toe slippers with wide-leg lounge pants: check the hem

A hem-clearance and indoor-use checklist. Use the free printable with the steps below. Compare the optional supply only if you need it.

Materials: Wide-leg lounge trousers; closed-toe indoor slippers; mirror; printable hem check

1. Check the actual footwear

Compare the slipper size with the seller's chart and try it according to current return instructions. Follow the maker's intended-use and floor guidance. A soft upper or pictured sole does not prove anti-slip performance in your home.

2. Look at the trouser hem

While standing normally, check that the hem does not drag on the floor or sit under the heel. Try sitting, standing and walking carefully. Do not rely on the cropped editorial image to judge your own clearance.

3. Adjust before hosting

Choose a shorter hem, different trousers or another suitable pair if fabric catches or movement feels awkward. Keep outdoor footwear separate where needed. The worksheet records your observations rather than certifying footwear safety.

Check actual garment or footwear measurements, care and current return eligibility. The illustration does not establish fit; other outfit pieces are separate.
